

Swine flu

Swine flu, Swine flu,
You never give any clue.
When all were fine,
You started spreading from swine.
You had the origin from Mexico city,
which was very pity!

You made all the human ill,
With your sudden thrill.
You made whole crowd to wear mask,
Which displeased the people's task .
These uninvited NRI's spreading you like fire,
And nations for controlling , making them tire.

There are many health centres to prevent you,
And nobody is there to accept you.
Oh! There is a competition to discover vaccine,
Which made a huge news in magazine.
You are normally called H1N1
Which will end our fun.

To remain bay with you at once,
We need a nilgiri or tulasi leaves in tones.
So that's swine flu,
Which never gives any clue.

Saumya Kunhiraman